Dear Parents/Carers,

What is STEM week?

It's only a couple of weeks now until the British Science week and World maths day. So we've decided to team the two up this year and have a whole-school STEM week for our children – STEM being Science, Technology, Engineering and Maths.

Each day, during the week commencing 11th March, our children will focus on a different element of STEM, completing whole-school and class challenges as well as being involved in some mind-blowing activities hosted by AS Creatives when they come in to lead sessions for our children in a special 'Race to Space' theme.

Can you help?

While all of our staff love teaching STEM subjects, we'd love it if any parents or people from our local community could help support our STEM week. It would be a fantastic opportunity for our children to hear first-hand the importance of these subjects through some short question and answer style sessions from people so close to us in the community.

Please for any more information regarding supporting school regarding our STEM week please pass your contact information on to class teachers or speak directly to Mr Purrington before or after school.

Thanks for your support in advance,

Mr Purrington

Maths & Science co-ordinator
